New York, October 21.—With Christy Mathewson in the box, the New York National League team won the 1910 baseball championship of Manhattan to-day by defeating the American League team 5 to 3, thereby taking four out of seven games. The games stand:

Nationals, four won; Americans, two won; one game tied.

The Highlanders outbatted the National League rivals in to-day's game, but played poorly in the field, their errors enabling the Giants to get three tallies. Doyle's home run in the third inning, with two on the bases, was the feature hit of the game and of the series. Score:

HOLT WINS MATCH, THROWING WILLS

Southsiders Witness Real Wrestling Match at Leader Hall. Three Falls Necessary.

Some 300 souls journeyed on two nights of stairs last night to see a wrestling match. The scene of action was Leader Hall, South Richmond, and the combatants, if such a term is proper, were Arthur Holt and Ray Wills. Holt, who weighs about 155 pounds, won, though it required three falls to decide. Wills is a stocky young fellow who lives on the south side of the river, and he displayed some ability on the mat. He is lighter than his opponent, weighing probably not over 140 pounds.

When the referee called time the two youngsters went at it hammer and tongs. Holt started with a vicious hold, but Wills knew a way to get out of it, and the bout lasted three and a half minutes. Holt finally winning with a full Nelson, which he got while the Southsiders were looking.

Just to show that it did know something of the game, Wills put the big fellow's back to the mat in the next set to five and a half minutes, using a scissors and arm hold. Some tall routine was brought in the final fall. Both started away from each other, but Wills was the aggressor, while Holt showed up well on the defensive. Getting loose from a strangle hold, he threw Wills to the mat, gaining a fall. Wills, and finally clamped the lighter boy's shoulders to the mat. It required seven and a half minutes to win.

The sports present were entertained, as a sort of preliminary, with vaudeville, which was seemingly enjoyed. But it remained for the wrestling match to bring out the real enthusiasm. Both boys had many friends present, and they cheered their favorite. Wills was formerly physical director of the Richmond Athletic Society. There will be more such matches in the southern portion of Richmond.

ATHLETICS WILL WIN CHAMPIONSHIP TO-DAY

"Ty" Cobb Certain That Americans Will Make It Four Straight From Cubs—Mental Condition of Opposing Players Compared

BY "TY" COBB.
(Copyright by the Philadelphia Press Company.)

Chicago, Ill., October 21.—The honor that I predicted would befall the Athletics to-day, that of being the world's champions of 1910, an honor that will have been attained in four games, something that no team ever accomplished in a previous series, was denied Mack's men to-day, owing to rain.

One of those dark, dreary, murky days that one can only find in Chicago, caused the postponement. During the morning every one was besieged with questions from anxious fans as to whether the game would be pulled off or not. Along about noon a bulletin was sent out from the Congress Annex Hotel, the palatial headquarters of the National Committee, which has the jurisdiction of declaring world's series games off, that the promised fourth and deciding struggle was off, and would be played here to-morrow instead of returning to Philadelphia, as per the previous schedule.

The logical pitchers for to-morrow should be Bender, for the Athletics, and Cole, for the Cubs. Thomas and Kling will be the catchers, with a possibility that Archer will be the surprise catcher of the fourth and deciding game.

Study of Two Clubs.

My reasons for saying that this will be the fourth and deciding game are plain to be seen with a little mental study of the opposing clubs—one seen in the atmosphere of success, the other cast into the deepest gloom by being so decisively humbled in the three games already played; their team work shot to pieces; their pitchers with their confidence lost; batters of their stride by being so completely crossed by the Athletics' batteries.

The Athletics, on the other hand, are in a different condition. Their pitchers and batters having unlimited confidence in their offense and defensive ability, their team work perfect and the players imbued with the idea that they are fully capable of pulling off any intricate play on the foreign Cubs.

They are to be compared to two armies in battle. One on the chase, the other on retreat, and nothing short of a miracle could retrieve their lost fortunes. One imbued with the spirit of victory, the other saturated with defeat.

So far in these three games the Athletics have shown wonderful ability, reeling off play after play with precision and perfection. However, the main cog which turns this remarkable baseball machine is their offensive or batting strength, and they have won their games on this, and this alone would not have needed the co-operation of their machine-like fielding and their pitching.

In reviewing the Cubs' play, I cannot help but think of Tinker's fine fielding and batting. A good criterion of his wonderful batting is that his average to-night for the series is .545. Of the Cubs' pitchers, Brown and Pfeiffer have shown the best. The highest class fielding to date has been shown by Zimmerman, of the Cubs, in accepting chances without errors, his percentage being 1.000. Barry, of the Athletics, has a perfect average, after gathering many hard swats. Of the feature fielding that has been pulled off, Collins, Murphy, Barry and Baker, for the Mackmen, and Zimmerman and Finker, for the Cubs, have been the ones to stab tickled safe drives.

Cleary Work on Lining Team.

Tinker and Zimmerman deserve all the more credit for their classy work, as they have been on the losing team, with everything going wrong and against them. One bad feature is that the Cubs' supporters have shown that they are not very loyal, being loudest in their praise for the Cubs when they are winning, and shocking the true supporters and fans by being loudest in hurrying words of denunciation at the club when that it is losing. They certainly lived up to the reputation of the baseball fans' fickleness.

The Cubs have been good losers and have shown that they can be that, as well as good winners, which they were in 1907 and 1908. They do not deserve the criticism which has been handed to them since the game yesterday. A team of men are only human and cannot stand the fast pace all their baseball lives. Some time or other they have to decline. A fan should think when he feels a desire to knock of the glorious victories of 1907 and 1908 when the Cubs were the toast of Chicago.

Fans to-day have been busy discussing the great work of the Athletics, and particularly the success of Jack Coombs in coming back after one day's rest and again humbling the Cubs in such grand style. The game was played over again and again, the hitting was discussed, and the victory was analyzed from beginning to end. They are figuring what Bender will do in the next game and whether Thomas, Collins, Davis, Barry, Baker and Murphy will continue their wonderful offensive work.

A tribute to the work of "Young Harry Davis," the Mack first sacker, whose hitting of his own peculiar style was one of the bright features of the Athletics' victory, is deserved. Harry is one of the fast fading type of sluggers of the olden days, who grips the bat at the extreme end and takes a healthy swing with every ounce of his strength. This is the type of slugger who entertained the ball fans of ten, fifteen and twenty years ago. His ability to bat so effectively in this present day and time, when the slugger type of batsman has found it difficult to cope with the present day pitching and the move to his credit. Here's hoping for his future success.

The fans are all anxious for a clear day to-morrow, and here's hoping that their wish will be gratified.

I feel confident that my prediction of yesterday that the Athletics would make it four straight will be fulfilled.

BARNEY OLDFIELD AT COLORED FAIR

Speed Demon Signs Contract, and Will Race Against Time for White People.

Barney Oldfield and his Benz flyer will be in Richmond, this much was definitely determined yesterday by the receipt of a telegram from Oldfield, in which he agreed to the contract entered into between Gies B. Jackson, director-general of the Colored State Fair Association, and J. Alexander Sloan, representing Oldfield. The speed demon will appear here on next Tuesday, designated as "White People's Day" at the colored fair and he will circle the track at least four times in an endeavor to lower some record.

Oldfield's manager, J. Alex. Sloan, says that the track here is peculiarly fitted for speed. In the first place there are long straightaways, with the curves banked slightly. The manager says that the Benz is awfully fast on straight courses, but slow on curves, which should make the mile track at the Fair Grounds an ideal one for Barney's speed trials.

The machines which Oldfield will bring to Richmond will be the 200-horsepower Benz and the 100-horsepower Darracq, in which he has made his previous speed records. The employment of Oldfield by the Colored Fair Association was made possible because of his lay-off preparatory to going to the Atlanta automobile meet. Since the suspension of Oldfield by the A. A. A. he has accepted engagements at fairs throughout the country. Just at present he is idle, except for his race to-day against Jack Johnson and he decided to let "the people of Richmond have an opportunity of seeing him at work."

It is expected that a large number of white persons will go to the Fair Grounds to see Oldfield drive his powerful machines against time.

RACES AT PIMLICO RUN IN THE RAIN

Electric Park Steeplechase Won Easily by Duffield.

Baltimore, Md., October 21.—Most of to-day's races at Pimlico were run in a drizzling rain that cut down the fields, but did not seem to affect the attendance. The feature was the running of the Electric Park Steeplechase. Duffield, backed from 10 to 1 down to 2 to 1, won in a race that was one of the prettiest seen at this track. The Severn purse, the other carded feature, went to Eagle Bird, an equal favorite with Chilton Square, after a pretty stretch drive. Summaries:

RIVAL SCHOOLS IN MATCH GAME

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Kinston, N. C., October 21.—Kinston High School defeated the Washington High School at football here to-day by the score of 24 to 2. Washington kicked a goal from the field in the first thirty seconds of play, due to fumbles by the Kinston back field. After that Kinston's goal was never in danger.

The game was characterized by considerable old-fashioned line bucking, in which Hines of K. H. S. was the star. Washington was better than the locals on punting, but its defensive work was weak. This was the first game of either of these schools this season.

VANDERBILT WILL PLAY VALE TO-DAY

New Haven, Conn., October 21.—The practice of the Yale Varsity football eleven to-day for Saturday's game with Vanderbilt University consisted of a signal drill, lasting three-quarters of an hour, during which Meade Robinson, a substitute half back, fell and wrecked at his knee, so that he will not be able to play the remainder of the season.

After practice the members of the team met at Vanderbilt eleven at the gymnasium, and Captain Daly offered them the use of the field. The Southern team had an hour's signal practice, coming in only when it was too dark to see the ball. The visitors have not yet returned on this season, and are confident of winning from Yale to-morrow.

When the Yale team goes on the field to-morrow their line will show a change in three positions from that of former years. Stroud will be in quarterback, in place of Coroy; Childs will be at right guard, taking the place previously filled by Loree, and Vanderbilt will play right end, a position he will retain until the return of Bomester to the game. Deming will do the punting, and Captain Daly will handle the drop-kicking when the occasion arises.

M'GUIRE'S LOSES TO HIGH SCHOOL

Fast Game Goes to Public School Lads by Score of 17 to 0 After Plucky Fight.

John Marshall High School won out over McGuire's by a score of 17 to 0 at Broad Street Park yesterday afternoon. It was one time when the score really doesn't tell the tale. The High School scored in the first and second quarters—two touchdowns in the first and one in the second—but after that Coach Wellford, of McGuire's, must have whispered some words of value into the ears of his team, for the boys braced up and played a game which was surprising when the weight handicap under which they were working is taken into consideration.

The High School has a good team—that goes without saying—the record of the year's victories will prove. But McGuire's, with a bunch of lightweight, made a showing of which any school might well be proud. From the beginning of play it was seen that the boys representing the public school system had the best of it. McGuire's was put on the defensive, and, realizing this, the team sought to stem the tide. It did, but, unfortunately, the steady play of the public school was a little too late. After Childress and King had carried the ball over for the only scores of the game the prep school began to show its mettle. "Wait until the next game and we'll show them," said Coach Wellford, and there are many who will believe it.

Unable to Advance.

The game was marked by a procession of forward passes, and runs and straight line bucking. The High School was the aggressor, and McGuire's was unable to advance the ball except through kicking, though the lighter eleven held the heavier team several times for downs. Once this happened when the ball was in striking distance of the goal.

King was the bright, particular star for the High School, his red head being conspicuous every time the ball was in play. Childress and Warwick likewise played a great game, while Montgomery showed remarkable headwork in running the team. For McGuire's, Ebel easily starred, though Hammond, little but loud, showed that he was made of the right stuff, and Mercer, at left half, was a consistent tackler and ground gainer, running the ball back well. It was an interesting game from any standpoint, and McGuire's need feel no shame at the result. Following is the line-up and summary:
